€28.000,00

chair, Josef Hoffmann (design), ca. 1902

---

Dimensions

48 × 43 × 125 cm

This piece is a significant example of furniture designed by Josef Hoffmann, created as a variation of the furnishings for the apartment of Dr. Salzer. Its strict, architectural design language clearly reflects the reduced geometry typical of this period — an aesthetic Hoffmann helped to define. The chair stands out for its outstanding craftsmanship, formal clarity, and architectural construction. It is in excellent condition, making it especially appealing to discerning collectors and enthusiasts of early modernism.

A rare piece that exemplifies Hoffmann's pioneering design approach and the emergence of modern design around 1900.
