This vase is an excellently preserved and exquisite specimen, which illustrates the high art of glassblowing from the manufacturer Loetz. The decoration from the Phenomenon Genre family is characterized mainly by the contrasting and matte iridescence, which show new qualities in their color gradient with each incidence of light. The veined and irregularly warped bands with their slightly silvery shimmer are particularly striking.

What is exciting is that especially the decoration "PG 1/158" - originally composed of two different decorations - unfolds completely new on each form and thus gives each shape of vase something unique. Through the use of the base in the color green in combination with the different curvatures and indents of this filigree vase, the complex decoration comes particularly harmoniously to the fore. It is precisely the fantastic trilogy of the decoration, the shape as well as the graceful size of this vase that reveals the true charm of this art object.
